Comments: Hello, I just wanted to thank you for the eye opening program that was presented the other night. I did my "homework" as asked and was amazed at what I had (not locked up I might add). I didn't think I would have much because I moved 4 years ago and thought I had gotten rid of most of my prescriptions. I was so wrong as I had prescriptions (Oxycontin, Percocet etc) from giving birth to my children and a herniated disc from the 1990's. I will be dropping off these medications and some others at Operation Medicine Cabinet on May 30th. I trust my kids (not so sure about their friends) but it seems stupid to take a chance with thier lives or someone elses. My remaining medications are now listed and locked up. It only took about a 1/2 hour to go through everything and lock it up. Now I have peace of mind that I have taken one more step in keeping my children (and maybe others) safe. Thanks again for the eye opening information.
